The MOUSE - Recommended for ages 2 to 3

Chugga Chugga Choo Choo delights toddlers with its repetitive language, wonderful rhyming patterns and colorful illustrations that tell about a freight train's day. Trains are so fascinating and the accompanying activities that invite toddlers to dress up like an engineer, blow the whistle and paint and decorate and then drive their very own locomotive around the track are such fun! Whooo Whooo.

This Bindle is focused on the classic story of Corduroy we all grew up loving. It is focused on making and playing. A threading station provides opportunities to learn to sew buttons with a needle and thread using an embroidery hoop, and an assortment of different beads to make jewelry and practice threading using a variety of materials. Additional materials for added fun and games are also provided.

What toddler doesn't go through a dinosaur phase? This book is an enchanting read about dinosaurs that is sure to inspire. Combine it with a small world that creates the perfect habitat for kids to use their imagination to bring these awesome beasts to life and you've got a real winner!

The BUNNY - Recommended for ages 3 to 5

My Colorful Chameleon is a wonderful new story which inspired such a fun Bindle! Children engage in a process art activity to create colorful chameleons like those depicted in this adorable story and parents hide them around the house to children's delight as they search to find them camouflaged in their surroundings. The experience culminates in the creation of a colorful chameleon your child can call their own appropriate for framing. This Bindle is a hit - and the shaving cream art is such a great sensory experience!

Children will ask to go on a bear hunt time and time again when you pair this fun story with an opportunity to make and play. Children make their own maps of the adventure on scrolls while retelling the story with all the story elements provided for them to choose from. Children squeal in delight when they use their maps to lead them to the plush bear at the end hidden in advance by cunning parents. So much fun!

Press Here is an interactive book in its own right and when paired with the expertly curated resources provided in this Bindle, it provides a rich and engaging experience for kids. Children explore their own magnetic counting chips with the magnetic wand provided, make their own copies of the book using stickers and dot markers, explore the principles of color mixing with tissue paper circles and light and enjoy a variety of gross motor games using the 10" die cut circles. So much learning and fun to be had with this Bindle!

The BADGER - recommended for ages 6 to 8

The super fun Fort Building Time Bindle provides everything kids need to build forts to withstand lots and lots of play just about anywhere. Pair that with a great book about kids building forts in all seasons around the globe and you've got a perfect experience for all ages... classic fun and totally timeless!

Adam Rubin hits another homerun with Those Darn Squirrels!, a story about grumpy old man Fookwire who loves painting birds, and after he puts up the birdfeeders to entice them to stick around for the winter, his encounters with the squirrels make for some hilarious, laugh out loud antics. This Bindle offers so much for the imagination as children are taught how to paint birds themselves, build a birdfeeder to attract their own birds and even sculpt a bird with the hodgepodge of materials much like the ones the squirrels used.

This Bindle based on Swatch: The Girl Who Loved Color, is a wonderful exploration of color using this delightful new release as a jumping off point. All the materials are provided to create a beautiful explosion of color using bleeding tissue paper on canvas suitable for framing. Not to mention the collaborative art game the whole family will enjoy and the opportunity to move and dance to a masterfully curated playlist and accompanying ribbon sticks. Words can't do justice to how much fun there is to be had with this Bindle!

The BEAR - Recommended for ages 8 to 12

This brand new release is an inspiring and funny biographical picture book that tells the tale of this fascinating cartoonist and inventor who followed his passions. Your child will be inspired by his story and then provided with a whole host of materials included in this Bindle for building complex chain reaction contraptions inspired by Rube Goldberg.

This book celebrates the universal wonder of treehouses and explores all the elements needed for an amazing treehouse! Children will love designing and building their very own treehouse and imagining all the adventure that can happen within its walls.

This wonderfully illustrated and engaging picture book biography is hot off the press and tells the inspiring history of Edwin Binney, the inventor of the beloved Crayola Crayon. Equally entertaining, informative and artistic, this book is altogether inspiring and fun. And everything needed to bring it to life with some very fun and creative Crayola art projects is included in this Bindle, including materials for children to make their own colored crayons.
